This program will outline the Buy American requirements of the U.S. Recovery Act, including implementation by the Obama Administration and the recent U.S.-Canadian agreement, providing an interim waiver for Canadian firms. The panel will examine the intersection between the Recovery Act's Buy American requirements and the WTO Government Procurement Agreement and free trade agreements, as well as the response from U.S. trading partners, including possible extension of the US-Canadian agreement to other countries. The webcast will also discuss UK and EU government procurement systems, how domestic content requirements similar to Buy American are imposed, the response of UK, EU and Japanese firms to Buy American, and its impact on UK, EU and Japanese firms.
